You are only eligible to vote in the precinct where you live if you have registered in that precinct.

If you were registered to vote, but moved from one county in Texas to Collin County: *

You will need to register with Collin County before being allowed to vote in Collin County by the above deadline.

Limited Ballot

Registered voters who move from one county to another may be eligible to vote in the new county of residence. They are eligible if they are still registered in their old county of residence at the time they vote a Limited Ballot in their new county of residence. Voters are entitled to vote on all statewide races and any district offices that are in common between the old and new counties. Call the Elections Office for details. You may only vote a Limited Ballot during the Early Voting Period (Feb. 19 through February 29, 2008).

If you moved from city to city within Collin county:

You will need to change your voter registration before being allowed to vote in your new precinct by the above deadline.

If you moved from one address in a city to another address within the same city:

You will need to change your voter registration before being allowed to vote in your new precinct by the above deadline.

You can now change your name or address by accessing the Sec. of State web address, www.sos.state.tx.us, if not, updates must be done by mail or in person.
