When structural issues arose with a concrete pour at the Central Plant fuel project, Jose Moreno masterfully utilized his specialized knowledge of concrete to hold our contractors accountable, successfully securing critical repairs under warranty. This keen oversight saved the organization substantial repair costs. Furthermore, to ensure the job was done right, he sacrificed his weekend to personally supervise the project, monitoring the pour and finish to guarantee the warranty repairs were completed to the highest standards.

For his technical mastery, and willingness to give up his personal time to protect our infrastructure, I nominate him for the Going the Extra Mile Award.
